DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chaussade'241 in view of Degeilh'971.

The applied Chaussade'241 teaches a laminate article comprising at least two layers of soft plasticized PVB sheet and at least one layer of a stiff PVB interlayer sheet. See Summary of the invention, column 3, lines 19-40 (claims 3-5), column 3, lines 55-67, column 4, lines 1-15, column 4, lines 23-60 (claims 19-22, 6-9), column 6, lines 17-30, Examples and claims.

The applied references does not specifically teach that Tg should be in the claimed range and that the stiff layer comprises a bleaching compound. However, the applied reference states that softness depends on plasticizing agent and that stiffer layers are placed inside of the PVB laminate. It is well known fact in the art that stiffer polymers have higher Tg as opposed to soft polymers. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to optimize Tg of the individual layers since such would improve mechanical properties of the laminate. Furthermore, The Degeilh'971 teaches that it is well known in the art to add sodium dialkylsulfosuccinates (DOS) to PVB polymers to improve properties. See column 2, lines 15-55 (claims 10-16). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to select known compound and include such in Chaussade'241 laminate as suggested by Degeilh'971 since such would improve laminar strength and stiffness of laminate.

The amendments and remarks filled by Applicants May, 2006 have been fully considered. Arguments have been found not persuasive because the examiner believes that DOS is suggested in the prior art. The fact that DOS is used for a different reasons in such prior art does not change the composition disclosed in the prior art. The rejections are maintained.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
